HEARING BEFORE MILK CONTROL BOARD

Secretary Of Dairymen's
Association Declares Milk Produced At Loss

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, June 9.—Farmers of the Pittsburgh area today continued their drive for an upward revision of milk prices at a hearing before the State Milk Control Commission here.

While more than 800 farmers applauded, H. B. Steele, secretary of the Dairymen's Cooperative Sales Association of Pittsburgh, concluded an hour and a half report with this statement:

"The responsibility rests on the shoulders of the Milk Control Commission to establish prices to return to farmers their production cost plus a reasonable profit."

Steele cited figures showing that the 5,000 members of his association produced milk last year at an average cost of $2.82 per hundred pounds, and received for it an average $2.26 per hundred pounds.

Steele's figures buttressed yesterday's demand by the farmers, through Joseph C. Haering, president of the United Farmers of America, that the retail price of milk be restored to 13 cents a quart. Last February the commission cut it to 11 cents a quart.

Gowns Of Queen Attract Much Interest At Capital

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, June 9.—Living up to the legendary loveliness of queens, Queen Elizabeth's gown attracted wide attention among the female guests at the state dinner at the White House last night. The gown, "fit for a queen", was a Norman Hartness formal ensemble. It was a white tulle picture gown with golden dots worked in the material. The bodice was of white embroidery and the skirt was of three tiers of white tulle, powdered with gold sequined embroidery in graduated design.
On her head was a beautiful coronet of diamonds and rubies. Her earrings were long pendants of diamonds and rubies.
At the embassy garden party in the afternoon, her majesty wore a flounced and full gown of white orphea with embroidered panels, edged ruffles and horizontal tucks.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Facing a battery of klieg lights, oddly out of place in such an historic setting, the king emperor of the British empire and his lovely queen today were given a state reception by the congress of the United States in an unprecedented ceremony beneath the gilded dome of the Capitol.

Senators and representatives from every walk of American life and in costume ranging from mismatched coat and pants to formal cutaway, filed solemnly by the royal couple in the great rotunda, shaking their hands, murmuring "your majesty" and passing on.

The Capitol grounds were crowded to capacity as King George and Queen Elizabeth arrived. Blue uniforms of marines stood out against a sea of colorful pin dresses, pinafores and flares.

Congress already assembled in the rotunda, shifted nervously from

The dinner party did not end until 12:20 a. m. and because of the heat a final round of punch was served. After their majesties received members of the Marine Band and the entertainers, the king and the president went off to the oval room where they talked until about 1 a. m. It was the first time they were able to really get to know each other since their majesties arrived in the capital at 11 a. m. yesterday.

The king and queen arose at 9 o'clock this morning and had a breakfast of fruit, bacon and eggs in the queen's sitting room. Both were refreshed after their night's stay in the White House and were ready for their arduous second day's schedule.

Britain Maps "Stop Hitler" Strategy

Conference Is Held At London

Special British Emissary To Fly To Moscow On Saturday

TO SEEK BASIS FOR ALLIANCE

(International News Service)
LONDON, June 9.—Britain's strategy to bring a diplomatic ally to the "stop Hitler" front was mapped out today in a conference among William Strang, special emissary to Moscow; Viscount Halifax, foreign secretary, and Sir Eric Phipps, British ambassador to Paris.

Afterwards the foreign committee of the cabinet met and approved Strang's instructions. He will fly to Moscow Saturday.

Well-informed quarters denied that Strang, an expert on Russian and Central European affairs, bears with him a definite Anglo-French formula to satisfy Russian demands regarding guarantees for the Baltic states.

However, Strang will carry full instructions on how to deal with each point brought up by the Soviet Union, and it is hoped that on this basis a formula to renew the triple alliance will be evolved.

foot to foot having had nothing else to occupy its mind today except the royal reception.

As the Britannic rulers entered congress, the close packed crowd outside cheered wildly and, as the cheers filtered in through the door, dignified congressmen also burst into spontaneous cheers of their own.

Busy Morning

Their majesties went to the Capitol after a busy morning. They were introduced to 100 newspaper women at the White House by Mrs. Roosevelt who described their visit earlier as a "very great contribution to the world peace," and then journeyed again to the British embassy to receive 2,000 persons—their subjects and Canadians and Americans who had served with the British forces in the World War.

At his press conference, President Roosevelt described the royal couple as very, very delightful people, and related that he had discussed international affairs with the king. But he discussed them, he said, only in the way that "you and I" would in these strenuous times.

Reaching the capitol grounds, the king and queen lingered briefly beside their automobile, smiling and waving to the 3,500 privileged guests who were closest to the car, and to the uncounted thousands behind who had no special privileges but who were there to see and cheer.

Cheers By Congress

Congress had not been scheduled to cheer the British king and queen but there was no remaining silent with those cheers of the crowd coming through the door.

As they entered the rotunda, the king dropped back a pace and allowed the queen to precede him. The queen was escorted by Vice President Garner and Speaker Bankhead, ranking officers of congress.

Both waved and smiled as the congressmen cheered.

The king and queen were escorted to positions facing the murals which depict the surrender of Burgoyne and Cornwallis, and with Senator Key Pittman standing on the king's left, the line of senators began to move slowly past.

First senator to greet the British rulers was Senator William E. Borah, foremost foe of entangling alliances with Britain, but he was greeted with a smile and a warm handshake by king and queen and smiled his own pleasure at the meeting.

One woman senator

The only woman senator to greet the king and queen was Senator Hattie Caraway, who was on the arm of Senator James P. Byrnes. Mrs. Caraway, now the only woman member of the senate, followed the lead of her male colleagues and shook hands with king and queen without cursing to either.

The king wore formal morning dress and the queen a white ankle length dress. Although the outside temperature was somewhere in the vicinity of 95, and the royal visitors are not accustomed to such heat, both looked comfortable.

It took the senate only a short time to file past their majesties. Then, Senator Pittman stepped back from his post beside the king and Representative Sol Bloom of New York, acting chairman of the foreign affairs committee of the house, slipped into the vacant spot to introduce the members of the house.

Bloom was resplendent in cut-away, Pincenez glasses, topper and stick.

Did Not Curtsey

Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers of Massachusetts was the first woman member of the house to be presented. Dressed in white, the American congresswoman looked fully as charming as the British queen. Mrs. Rogers did not curtsy.

The rotunda audience observed same quality in the queen's smile which audiences from coast to coast in Canada have detected—the quality which makes it appear that the smile is "for me alone," as one veteran in Ottawa observed.

"Look," said Senator King of Utah as the queen's smile slowly swept the line of senators, "she's smiling at us!"

Members of congress, who either

THE NATION'S ROYAL GUESTS

THE cordial welcome extended to King George and Queen Elizabeth by our government in behalf of the American people is, of course, wholly compatible with the principles upon which this Republic was founded.

Even if the King of Great Britain were an absolute monarch—there is none left today—instead of a constitutional ruler by grace of his nominal subjects and actually responsible to their representatives in parliament, courtesy would demand the hospitable reception for him and his consort in Washington on Thursday.

The first visit of a reigning British sovereign to the United States would be an event of extraordinary interest to our own and other nations at any time. In the light of the present disturbed state of world affairs, when it is still felt that a single spark might set all Europe ablaze, this interest is vastly intensified.

While British Kings rule but do not govern, they have frequently proved themselves much more than figureheads or symbols. Their good-will visits to other lands have often served to supplement the diplomatic policies of their Ministers, to promote friendly and mutually beneficial relations and even formal agreements.

In this case the latter consideration is automatically excluded both by firm American tradition and the fact that secret treaties and alliances are impossible under our Constitution. Therefore, whatever political implications others may seek to draw from this unprecedented visit, no embarrassment should arise between hosts and guests.

Happily, in this instance, the royal visitors themselves paved the way for a most pleasant introduction to their American hosts ever since they landed on this continent by their kindly, modest bearing and especially the pervading charm of the Queen's personality. During their brief stay they can learn comparatively little of this vast country, but enough to know that the good wishes they bring from across the sea are sincerely reciprocated by the American people.

REAL WEALTH WIDELY HELD

A comprehensive answer to those who hold that this country's wealth is concentrated in a few hands is offered in a study by the University of Notre Dame's bureau of economic research. It points out that the real wealth of the United States is not the money which passes from hand to hand, but things that people actually use, own and enjoy, such as land, houses, automobiles, and so on.

Defining the term "physical assets" the survey explains that money and securities, including deeds and property, are only evidences of ownership of goods or things, and not the goods or things themselves.

For the purpose of the survey, the physical assets are defined as "all useful physical things, capable of control and ownership by human beings."

The study shows that on a per capita basis, the nation's physical assets in 1933, the last year covered, approximated $2,740 a person, of which $1,233 represented ownership of production assets and $1,507 the possession of comfort goods.

Pointing out that this country has about 70 per cent of all the automobiles in the world, 80 per cent of telephones and household appliances and that this is the only country where a majority of homes have radios, running water, bathtubs and central heating, the director of the survey holds it as almost self-evident that there is no close concentration of physical assets.

He shows that in a year when there were 29,905,074 families in this country, there were 23,000,000 passenger cars—he does not think multiple ownership in a few cases affects his broad conclusions—19,000,000 electric flat-irons, 12,000,000 electric (non-battery) radios and 9,000,000 vacuum cleaners.

It is interesting to note that while there was some falling off due to the depression from a peak 1929, there has been an increase in "comfort" assets from $121,528,000,000 in 1922 to $138,138,000,000 in 1933 and that in the same period "production" assets rose from $85,026,000,000 to $102,671,000,000.

PROBLEM OF COTTON CONTROL

The call issued by the United States State Department for an international conference on cotton control is an attempt to find an answer to one of the world's most vexing economic questions. Increasing surpluses, especially in the United States, are glutting the market and depressing prices.

American producers who once received 15 cents a pound can for cotton get only 8½ cents now without a subsidy. In government warehouses are stored about 14,000,000 bales of old cotton, more than enough to meet this year's requirements for home consumption and export.

The countries are invited to attend the conference to explore the situation with the hope of recommending a formal international-parley later with powers of fixing annual quotas of production and export that will be fair all around. At present a similar plan is being tried in regard to the world's crop of wheat.

Efforts of this kind are bound to meet one great difficulty at the outset. Only those countries which are pinched by conditions are eager for self-imposed regulations. Those which have just found new markets or who benefit in some way are not inclined to give up their advantages for the sake of someone else. If Argentina, Brazil, Egypt, India, Mexico, Peru, Sudan, Russia, France, and Great Britain are to be induced to join with the United States in imposing quotas, they must be convinced that in the long run it will pay.

In the United States we have been experimenting with cotton control by ourselves. The consequences of such a program, however, are disastrous without the co-operation of the other large cotton-producing nations. Since we still raise much more cotton than we can possibly consume, and continue to build up surpluses in warehouses, the export market is vitally important.

This condition gives us one weapon. If the United States should dump its surplus stocks on the world market, every nation would feel the shock. Let us hope that some basis for agreement will be found at the preliminary conference; otherwise we can hope for little but chaos at home or abroad.

When dictators insist all they want is peace, they mean all they want is the world in pieces.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

WHEN IS CHILD OLD ENOUGH TO REMAIN ALONE?

DEAR DR. MYERS: I have a son 12 years old. He is an only child. This is my problem. I have always had a girl stay with Ted evenings when we were out. Ted feels he is old enough to stay alone in our five-room bungalow. He has a wonderful watchdog, "Spitz." But my husband and I feel to leave a child alone is very wrong. My friends encourage us to this act as they did the same with their only child. But we feel it is unjust and selfish on our part.

"Will it affect the child in any way when all alone. Will it bring fear or other thoughts to his mind, or will it teach him self-reliance?"

My Answer
Of course he is old enough, physically and emotionally, to stay home alone during the evening. He has "Spitz" and prefers to stay alone. A normal boy of 12 doesn't want to have a woman watching over him. To his boy friends it suggests excessive supervision.

But if he had indicated fear of being left alone, the matter would be different; different, too, if he could not be trusted or if youngsters would come in for roughhouse during your absence. You know your boy.

A grandma writes:
"Dear Dr. Myers: I have a grandson 17 months old. When he cries he holds his breath until his face is black. Recently his father picked him up, took him to the bathroom and sprinkled some water in his face. The baby fainted, then started breathing. Was in the faint ten minutes. The parents are quite alarmed for they do not dare to cross him for fear he will do it again. Your answer will be greatly appreciated."

I wrote this grandmother that pediatricians (child doctors) assure me that when a baby in a tantrum holds his breath, he is in no danger, that the moment he grows unconscious breathing automatically resumes. There might, however, be danger if the youngster struggled amid entangling bed clothing, when he might be suffocated.

Next time that baby holds his breath he should have a dash of cold water in his face immediately. Never mind the floor, the baby is of first importance. A hundred houses could not equal the damage to this child if his tantrums continue to be cultivated. Cure is easy now, hard later.

This infant already can make his parents tremble with fear. It's as if he were 18 with a gun at a gas station calling, "Stick 'em up!" Only he has a wooden gun now which his parents mistake for a real one.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THOSE THRIFTY FRENCH

The Scotsman is accused of being the most thrifty of people, but those in the "know" say that a Frenchman has it all over the Scotsman.

General Georges Mouton was a great friend of Napoleon Bonaparte. One day he visited his chief at the Tuilleries, and Napoleon, glancing out of the window, noticed his shabby carriage in the courtyard.

"Is that your carriage, Mouton?" asked Napoleon.

"Yes, sire," the general said. "It is not fitting that one of my bravest Generals should go about in a hackney coach."

"Sire, I am not a rich man and cannot afford a better."

The next day the General received a check for three hundred thousand francs. A week later he again visited Napoleon, and drove up in the same old carriage.

"Did you not receive an order for three hundred thousand francs?" asked Napoleon.

"Yes, sire," said Mouton, "and I am really grateful for the gift, but if your Majesty insists upon my spending it, I would rather return the money."

GRANDPA BRAGS A BIT

Just three months old
And let me say
As good as gold
And bright as day.
Eyes that explore
The bedroom through
And what is more
He knows me, too!

So very small
And yet I swear
He knows my call
Upon the stair.
He plainly shows
By every sign
He surely knows
The voice is mine!

His dimpled cheek
And dimpled chin
Whenever I speak
Flash out a grin.
Which plainly shows
Past doubt or sham,
The rascal knows
Just who I am.

NO HURRY
The minister had bogged down in a rural mud puddle, but felt things were not so bad when he saw one of his parishioners coming along with a team of horses.

The parishioner was pretty deliberate about getting the team hooked up to the stalled car and the minister fumed a bit.

"Hang onto your prayer book, dominie," advised the parishioner. "We're not a-going to be a-needing you in church until Sunday, and today's only Thursday."

Can't Avoid World Economics
Uncle Sam Cannot Remain Aloof
Favors Insulation Against War

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, June 9.—James A. Farrell, chairman of Uncle Sam's National Foreign Trade Council and former president of the United States Steel corporation, and Dr. Edgar L. G. Prochnik, who was Austrian minister in Washington until Herr Hitler gobbled his home country, made a couple of extremely interesting talks the other day in connection with Georgetown university's sesquicentennial celebration.

Chairman Farrell's essential point was that "commercial policy has become an instrument of diplomacy."

He didn't quote State Secretary Cordell Hull, but he certainly is in agreement with the latter. I knew Secretary Hull quite well when he was in the house of representatives and later in the senate. In all of a good many interviews that I had with him he discussed economics. I took it that that was his specialty. His selection by President Roosevelt as head of our foreign office struck me, at the time, as rather queer. I'd have thought his appointment to the relationship of the treasury or the commerce department as perfectly appropriate, but he never had seemed to me much interested in overseas affairs.

But subsequently, in a chat I had with him as state secretary, he presented the proposition from a different angle.

"The longer I deal with international relationships," he said, "the clearer it becomes to me that they all are based upon economic considerations."

In other words, he's an international economist and an economic internationalist—and they're one and the same subject. Anyway, he thinks so, and Chairman Farrell concurs, evidently.

Maybe we can keep out of foreign wars, says Farrell, but we can't keep out of world economics.

Insulation Versus Isolation
Farrell favors insulation against war, but he maintains that economic isolation is impossible.

He cites figures. He shows that, in 1938, a slack commercial year, the United States still was the world's foremost exporting nation, and that we were third among importers. As importers England and Germany surpassed us, but they're by no means as self-sufficient as we are.

It's ridiculous, Farrell argues, to think that we can upset a contrast of such proportions without raising domestic and international Cain. In itself, reasons Secretary Hull, an attempt of that sort would start a war. A little pewee of a country, perhaps, could do it, and ruin nobody but itself, but for a power of our size to adopt such a policy, he holds, would tear the whole globe apart. His and Farrell's arguments are pretty convincing.

The thing acts and reacts. Lack of economic collaboration threatens war. The threat of war prevents economic collaboration.

In effect, I'm quoting Farrell. He and Secretary Hull appears to me to see eye to eye.

The Peace Of Peace?

Dr. Prochnik dwells on the cost of armaments.

Nations reckon that they must arm, in order to scare off aggressors from attacking them. We're doing it now, to defend ourselves and Latin America against European and Asiatic possibilities. They're arming, too, to defend THEMSELVES respectively against one another.

It was the same old way before the last World War.

Britain and Germany were the outstanding competitors then.

They built and built warships, pro and con, until finally neither one could stand the expense any longer. It looked cheaper to stop preparing and fight it out.

Today? "It will result," predicts Dr. Prochnik, "in a clash of arms when world-out nations no longer can bear the ever-increasing burden of armaments."

Two Sound Tax Ideas

WASHINGTON, June 9.

TOO much, perhaps, has been made of the President's surrender on taxes, by which the faces of Messrs. Morgenthau and Hanes have been saved and the repeal of the remnant of the undivided-surplus tax insured. Actually, the new tax bill, while removing certain "irritants" will not in itself do much toward promoting recovery.

NOTHING really will promote recovery so long as the Administration pursues a spending policy which leaves Federal finances out of control and keeps acutely alive the threat of repudiation or inflation. It has been made plain that exactly that policy will be pursued as long as Mr. Roosevelt is in the White House, which means that any improvement in business will be synthetic, temporary and political, and that fear will continue to prevent industrial expansion and activity.

SO far as the tax bill is concerned, it seems extraordinary that neither the President, the Treasury, Senator Harrison, nor anyone else in a position to do so, should be greatly concerned about or genuinely interested in the two conceded sound tax reforms which have been proposed over and over again and against which there are no really sound arguments. One of these is the proposal to broaden the base by lowering the income exemptions; the other is the enactment of a law which will put an end to the issuance of tax exempt securities. There seems really no excuse at all for not enacting both these proposals at this session. Yet the chances are that neither will be.

THE plan to lower the exemptions was first proposed six years ago by Senator La Follette. He fought and argued strongly for it session after session. Once the Senate passed it, only to rescind its action next day. The only point made against it is that it would tax the poor instead of the rich. The real reason it is not supported by the Administration is because it seems a politically not an economically bad thing to do. The fact is that it would be the most steady action that could be taken. It would do more to encourage economy and discourage waste than anything that could be conceived. It would do this by adding some 2,000,000 people to the direct tax-paying class.

THE idea that these are not now taxed is, of course, absurd. Their taxes are indirect, but none the less heavy. However, only by taxing them directly is it possible to make them tax-conscious. The added burden would be a trifle and the added income would not be great. The great advantage to the nation would be in adding millions of voters with an acute interest in what was going on.

It is natural that such a plan should lack support from an Administration, whose basic policy is a spending policy, and which operates on the foolish and fallacious idea that the rich can be made to pay the bill and the poor be given a free ride. It is depressing that while only the most blatant demagogues hold to that idea now, the Administration still shies away from it.

broader Court pass on its constitutionality. The real reason this has not been done is because of pressure from Mayors and Governors, who contend that to remove the tax-exempt feature would increase the cost of state and municipal financing.

UNQUESTIONABLY this is true, but, as pointed out by various Secretaries of the Treasury, the offsetting advantages are very great. Chief of these is that the huge sums which now lie inert in these tax-exempt securities would be diverted into industrial enterprises which make for employment. The merits of both these propositions are so clear that it seems almost incredible they could be held up for such thin reasons. Certainly, in the matter of tax-exempt securities there is not even the political argument against action.

THE bill the President urged ought

Rev. McAllister To Be Speaker At Convention

Former Local Pastor To Make Address At County Gathering June 15

The closing address of the afternoon session and the address of the evening at the 101st convention of the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association which is to be held at the New Wilmington United Presbyterian church on Westminster College campus, Thursday June 15th, will be delivered by Rev. F. B.
McAllister, D. D. pastor of the First Baptist Temple, Youngstown, O.

Rev. McAllister is well known in Lawrence County having been pastor of the First Baptist church of this city, and later, after a serious illness that kept him from preaching for some time, filled the pulpit of the First Christian church of this city.

One or two of the large Sunday schools of New Castle have reported that they have appointed transportation committees to see that those wishing to attend the convention and needing transportation may be taken care of. Sunday school superintendents are requested to follow this procedure, and are also urged to send in the reservations for meals as promptly as possible that the New Wilmington ladies may make their plans accordingly. Lawrence county Sunday schools are requested to announce that any one attending the convention, in addition to those regularly appointed, will be considered as a delegate and there are no registration fees.

The convention opens with registration at 9:00 o'clock, Eastern Standard time, and from then until the close of the evening session, a program which will provide both instruction and inspiration has been provided.

to be supported both by his friends and his opponents. Maybe favorable consideration can be obtained despite the present lack of interest. It could be if Mr. Roosevelt would push hard enough. As for the broaden-the-base proposal, if Senator LaFollette will again make his fight, and the Republicans support him with reasonable solidity, there are enough independent Democrats to put that through despite Administration reluctance. Both these things can be done; both should be done;
but unless there is a big change,
neither will be done.

Builders Plan Future Events

New Castle Chapter No. 1. Order of the Builders met in the East Lodge room of the Scottish Rite Cathedral on Wednesday evening, at which time three new members were initiated.

A luncheon dinner will be held on Monday, June 19, at 6:30 o'clock in honor of James C. Cavill, retiring Master Builder.

Ritualistic work was put on under the supervision of Owen G. Thomas, I. Miller Henley, Carl T. Turner, and Loyal J. Foster. On Wednesday June 21 at 7:30, a similar practice will be conducted by officers and advisory board members, in the service division room.

The installation of officers will be conducted in the East Lodge room of the Cathedral, Wednesday evening, June 28, with James C. Cavill acting as installing officer, with only members in attendance.

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

Copyright 1939 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

When King Nebuchadnezzar built the hanging gardens of Babylon, he "planned it that way". Much of our modern achievement is a by-product or an accident. It isn't blue-printed;
it just happens.

I have in mind this talk of making the skyscrapers of the financial district of lower New York into apartments. It isn't just talk. I have the name of a big New York real estate corporation which is engaged in minute studies of this possibility. They have just begun their survey, but I am told that the findings to date are so encouraging that it is highly probable that, within a year, several large remodeling projects will be begun.

Henry L. Doherty, living for years in his penthouse, topping a 60-story skyscraper in Wall Street near the lower bay, rated this as the best living section in New York and marveled that upper levels of the tall building weren't used for dwellings.
However, he was preceded by the late Percy Rockefeller, son of John D. Rockefeller, who, 29 years ago, built a castle in the clouds on top of the huge Cunard building at 25 Broad street. He was an early and enthusiastic penthouse fan.

As the real estate bring it all together at the point of a sharp pencil, it's about like this:
At the peak of the boom days in 1929, a 5,000,000-share day was about normal on the Stock Exchange. Now they toss up their hats if they hit a 1,000,000-share day. On that basis the business of the financial district could be transacted with about one-fifth of the office space.

Office rentals in this district have fallen perilously. High taxation and original investments at thousands of dollars per front foot for land, and peak prices for buildings make the skyscrapers so many white elephants unless some means can be found of making them yield more revenue.

Lower Manhattan is a focus of all transportation lines of Greater New York. If you lived down there, no matter where you work, you would only have to step a block or two to your subway, bus or boat. The abolition of the Sixth avenue "El" dis-closes splendid living possibilities in Trinity Place. It is "a natural" that business should fan out from a lower Manhattan residential section, rather than the reverse.

The big steel company engineers already are at work devising adaptable steel partitions for the quick changing of offices to apartments.
The technological research and experiment already has been done.
Basic plumbing and lighting is already provided.

If they ever really put this over, Nebuchadnezzar's best penthouse and garden effects would be just a shabby tenement house-top in comparison. Many of the skyscrapers have set-backs and ledges ideal for gardening in the clouds—a diversion which has been showing ahead rapidly in the last few years. Up 40 or 50 stories, in a building constructed for light, air and view, as these skyscrapers are, with an outlook over the sea and Manhattan's embracing rivers, with ships near by and rolling hills in the distance—that sounds like a real estate paradise!

It looks like another job for Grover Whalen. There are calls and urges to Promethean showmanship here which surely demand his Olympian talents and none other.

The old Dutch burghers pegged lower Manhattan as an ideal residential section, and there will be some ghostly chuckles down around the Battery if words get around that we have at last discovered the comfort, beauty and convenience of old Stuyvesant's Stamping ground some three centuries ago. Incidentally, there is a world of "living space", as the Germans call it, to be had by demolishing worthless, century-old rattletrap buildings under the shadows of modern skyscrapers.
Furthermore, there are a half dozen churches, including Trinity and its famous graveyard, two hospitals, various clubs, gymnasiums, huge markets, two public parks and a

To Dedicate Organ On Sunday, June 11

St. Phillip And James Church
To Dedicate New Moller
Organ With Ceremonies

Sunday, June 11, Festive Day will take on added interest in St. Phillip and James church when the new Moller organ will be dedicated. The rebuilding of the organ has been completed, all of the work being done by a local man, David Aston. The organ has been electrified and new parts added, among them a set of chimes.

An extensive musical program has been arranged by Miss Marie Dutkiewicz, organist of the church, and among the numbers played will be many by Polish composers, the numbers being brought here by Miss Dutkiewicz when she visited Poland recently. While abroad she made a special study of Polish church music, both old and new, some of them original manuscripts.

The Vespers, in Latin by John Singenberger, will be done by the junior boys' choir chanting the Gregorian style, while the adult chorus performs in figured musical style. Perosi's "Ave Verum" will be heard and in all the program will be a true example of the liturgical style of music for the church. At 7:15 Miss Dutkiewicz will present a short organ recital featuring numbers by Garth Edmundson, local composer, some numbers by Bach and an original arrangement of Polish Chorals.

The combined three choral units of the church, 50 voices, of the Young Men's Choir, Young Ladies' Society Choir and Junior Boys' Choir will be used. Rev. Dante De Lillo and Rev. S. Zolnierzak will be cantors in the sanctuary.

The pastor of the church, Rev. V. V. Stancielewski, will be the celebrant and the speaker of the day will be the Very Reverend Stephen Krol, rector of St. John Kanty College, Erie, Pa. He established the college in Erie more than 25 years ago but has been in Cracow, Poland, for some time, coming to the United States recently.

The organ has already been paid for through special efforts of the pastor and the congregation and the congregation is looking forward eagerly to the dedication.

The choir loft has been remodeled to fit in with the new console and a large front stained glass window has been installed, made of Munich glass. The subjects in the window are Christ the King, and the four Apostles, Matthew, Mark, Luke and John.

On Court House Hill

For some reason there have been no really transfers for the past two days in the office of the register and recorder. A number of instruments have been recorded such as mortgages, powers of attorney and the like.

With the approval of the June grand jury of the proposed addition to the court house there is but one step necessary before actual steps can be taken to construct the addition and that step is the approval of the court.

The plans for the addition have been drawn by Architect Harry M. Wirsing and they call for a two-story addition in the bay of the court house on the south side of the building. Additional space would be provided for the prothonotary and register and recorder, proper jury rooms will be provided and some additional office space.

In the office of the register and recorder the following letters have been issued:

Letters testamentary to John P. Allen in the estate of Rachel M. Allen, late of New Castle, who died September 12, 1938.

Letters testamentary to John C. Brophy in the estate of Julia M. Brophy, late of Ellwood City, who died May 27, 1939.

Letters testamentary to Frank P. Hunter in the estate of Mary Emma Hunter, late of New Castle, who died May 21, 1939.

Letters of administration to Mary E. Williams in the estate of Sarah

E. Williams, late of New Castle, who died May 5, 1939.

Letters testamentary to George Vanus and Elizabeth Glosner in the estate of Mary Vanus, late of New Castle, who died May 24, 1939.

Letters of administration to Jason N. Pradenburgh in the estate of Ernest M. Pradenburgh, late of New Castle township, who died April 30, 1939.

Letters testamentary to Minnie B. Frasso in the estate of Nicholas E. Frasso, late of New Castle, who died April 26, 1939.

Considerable money is coming into the coffers of the county through the lien letters which were sent out to taxpayers. In many cases taxpayers have come in and said they didn't know the lien had been filed or had forgotten it.

A report of the audit of the books of former county treasurer Joseph H. Hartland has been received by the county commissioners, but to date, it has not been made public. Before claim for restitution can be made it will be necessary to get all the liens verified.

How One Woman Lost 20 Pounds of FAT

Lost Her Double Chin—Lost Her Prominent Hips—Lost Her Sluggishness.

Gained A Shapely Figure and the Increase in Physical Vigor and Vivaciousness Which So Often Comes With Excess Fat Reduction.

Thousands of women are getting fat and losing their appeal just because they do not know what to do.

Why not be smart—do what thousands of women have done to get off pounds of unwanted fat. Follow the sensible, safe pleasing food lists inside of a jar of Kruschen.

Then for a wholesome beneficial aperient effect on liver and bowels and for a mild helpful diuretic of the kidneys—take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water every morning. Keep this plan up for 30 days. Then weigh yourself and see if you haven't lost pounds of ugly fat.

Just see if this doesn't prove to be the surprise of your life and make you feel like shouting the good news to other fat people. And best of all a jar of Kruschen that will last you for 4 weeks costs but little. Don't miss the little daily dose. New Castle Drug Co. and Eckerd's.

King George And President Marshal Forces For Peace

By ROBERT G. NIXON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 9.—In a firm mutual pledge of lasting Anglo-American amity and peace, President Roosevelt and King George VI today marshalled the moral forces of the two great Democratic powers against aggressors.

The American chief executive and King-Emperor raised their voices in fervid prayers for world peace in reaffirming the strength of traditional ties of friendship that have endured for more than a century.

The pledges were uttered in toasts exchanged at a state dinner at the White House last night, given by the President and Mrs. Roosevelt in honor of the visiting king and queen.

Ambassadors from the capitals of Europe and Asia, attended the state affair with members of the American cabinet, congressional leaders and chiefs of the Army and Navy. They heard the king and the president speak of hopes and ideals held in common by the two nations whose peoples number more than 500,000,000.

King's Talk Is Guarded
President Roosevelt spoke on a troubled world frankly, but King George because of constitutional restraints which prevent Britain's ruler from voicing the political implications of recent European events was more guarded in his remarks.

But the king-emperor did speak of his hope for world peace, and of the lasting friendship of the two nations, with deep feelings.

"I trust and believe that in the years to come the history of the United States will continue to be marked by that ordered progress and by that prosperity which have been theirs in the past," King George told the President.

"And I pray that our great nations may ever in the future walk together along the path of friendship in a world of peace."

The president, toasting the King and Queen, declared that their visit was an occasion which will stand out in "high relief" in America's life and gave thanks "for the bonds of friendship that link our two peoples."

"I am persuaded," he asserted, "that the greatest single contribution our two countries have been enabled to make to civilization, and to the welfare of people throughout the world, is the example we have jointly set by our manner of conducting relations between our two nations."

"It is because each nation is lacking in fear of the other that we have unfortified borders between us. It is because neither of us fears aggression on the part of the other that we have entered no race of armaments the one against the other."

Mrs. Florence Pearson who has served during four administrations as a member of the board of appeals in connection with zoning, resigned Thursday. Council tendered Mrs. Pearson a vote of thanks for her work which was free to the city.

Several days ago Mrs. Rebecca Strong, of Neshannock avenue, fell on an alleged bad sidewalk in South street, was injured and required hospital attention. She asked city council to recompense her for her medical bill, ruined clothing and broken spectacles. Today a communication from assistant to the City Solicitor, Gilbert E. Long, said council could, if desired, use their own discretion. Council took no action either way. There is no sidewalk inspection, other than that made by a patrolman of the police force and daily

Deadline Set For Arrest Of Slayer Of German Policeman

Germany Plans Punitive Steps

First Major Incident In Czechoslovakia Under German Protectorate

TOWN PLACED UNDER VIRTUAL MARTIAL LAW

(International News Service) *
BERLIN, June 9.—Eight o'clock tonight (3 p. m. EDT) was set as the deadline today for arrest of the killer of a German policeman in the Bohemian town of Kladno, 15 miles north-west of Prague.

Otherwise, the ultimatum warned following the first major incident to occur in the former Czech-Slovakian province since Germany's protectorate was established, further measures against the town, already under virtual martial law, will be taken.

Leftist Stronghold
Kladno is known as a leftist stronghold, and is said to have been the center of unrest since the German "protectorate" over Bohemia and Moravia was established. The town was the birthplace of Anton J. Cermak, mayor of Chicago, who was fatally shot in an attempt on the life of President-elect Roosevelt in Miami, Fla., in 1933.

The policeman, Wilhelm Knieser, was shot dead in front of the Kladno high school. Police indicated they suspected not Kladno citizens, but two strangers who were observed in a hotel before the shooting.

Orders Issued
Baron Constantin von Neurath, German "protector" of Bohemia-Moravia, at once ordered closing of all theaters and schools and prohibited public gathering in Kladno. He instructed that windows and doors of all houses be closed from 8 p. m. until 5 a. m., otherwise the houses would be fired on. Local officials were removed from office and Czech police in the district were disarmed and arrested, accused of failing in their duty.

Policeman Knieser, according to the German version of the story, was found dead by the guard relieving him on night duty in front of the high school.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

DOCTOR CAUTIONS MOTHERS TO TEACH CHILDREN PROPER APPRECIATION OF FATHER

Father it seems, is always the butt of jokes and laughter. From the time he is depicted pacing up and down the hall outside the maternity ward, waiting for word of the new arrival, all through the trials and tribulations of changing diapers and walking the floor, the joke is on dad.

Of course I realize that it is all in the spirit of good fun and all that, but really it isn't fair to laugh too loudly at dad's expense. A father has a mighty important part to play in the life of his family and, with Father's Day in the offing, it might be a good time to think about it.

I know that it is impossible for a child to overlook the care that mother gives. It is from her that he gets most attention when he is young; she trains him and teaches him nearly everything he knows before he enters school. When he is sick, it is mother who nurses and takes care of him. It isn't any wonder that the child grows up with a deep-rooted appreciation of what mother has meant.

I think children should be taught something of what father means, as well; he should grow up feeling some gratitude to the father for what he has done.

While mother is caring for the children, father is earning the money to pay the bills. Sometimes a father won't see much of his offspring because when the child gets up in the morning father is already away at work, and by the time he gets back at night, the child is in bed.

It isn't much wonder that the child grows up without feeling that the father plays a very important part in his scheme of things. Clothes, toys, food and home all seem to come along automatically, and the child accepts them without asking whence they came.

I think mothers have a duty to perform in this respect. They should see to it that the boys and girls, as they grow up, should give dad credit for the things he has done; for the sacrifices he has made that they might have new clothes or other luxuries. The mother could take things a lot easier in the home if it weren't for the children. But what about father? Just think how much easier he would have it if he didn't have to worry about the expenses. He works a lot harder keeping a family than if he just had himself to keep, but his pride and his love of his family make him glad to do things for them.

Children do well to realize that mother is able to take such care of them largely because father is out earning the bread and butter.

"CANKER WORMS NUMEROUS"

Canker worms or measuring worms are doing considerable damage in this section of the state, particularly on unsprayed trees. Apple leaves seem to be their favorite diet. The worms are from one-half to one inch long and vary in color from a light green to a brown color with a lighter streak down the back. If the tree limbs are shaken, the worms will drop and hang by a slender thread attached to the limb. These insects have completely defoliated trees in the county.

Spraying infected trees with a mixture of four pounds of arsenate of lead and four pounds of fresh hydrated lime has given control in most sections of the state. Complete coverage of the trees with the spray is necessary.

PROPER CARE IMPROVES QUALITY OF EGGS SOLD

Care given eggs after they are laid is probably the most important factor affecting egg quality, results at Pennsylvania egg auctions show.

Eggs of highest quality are marketed by farmers gathering them at least three times daily, cooling them quickly to remove the animal heat, storing them in a cool room having high humidity, and packing them daily.

Poultrymen are becoming more and more conscious of the importance of proper conditions for handling their eggs. Eggs rooms having a temperature of less than 68 degrees Fahrenheit and a relative humidity of approximately 85 per cent apparently are giving the best results. Eggs will not freeze until the temperature drops below 29 degrees, but most poultrymen prefer to maintain a temperature near 50 degrees.

A satisfactory egg room often can be provided at relatively small expense. Many poultrymen have partitioned off part of their cellars with building board. Additional moisture is supplied in the rooms by spilling water on the floors or allowing it to run down the walls.

The most common practice is to have a room large enough to provide sufficient space for storing and packing the eggs, and for the storage of a few empty and filled cases. In planning a new laying house, provisions should be made for an egg room under it. The most desirable arrangement provides for two rooms, the first for cooling and storing, and the second for cleaning, grading and packing.

CLIPPING PASTURES DISCOURAGES WEEDS

Extremely cold weather early this spring, followed by drought, retarded many pastures. Grasses and clovers grew slowly, but weeds made rapid growth in all but the best pastures.

To discourage these weeds, particularly sweet vernal grass, pepper grass, sorrel, yarrow, and wild carrot, clipping pastures early in June is advisable. Weed seed production will be prevented. Unpalatable Kentucky bluegrass seeds will also be clipped, stimulating the growth of new succulent leaves.

The clippings may be left on the pasture unless the foul growth is extremely heavy. Livestock will eat most of the wilted grass. Grass growing in bunches around droppings will be carried some distance by the mower and the stock will then eat it. It may be best to remove heavy cuttings of weeds and they show a tendency to smother the grass.

Regular close clipping will effect great improvement on most pastures. Weeds and brush use moisture and plant food that should be available for grasses and legumes. Continued close clipping eventually will practically eliminate most of the weeds and brush from the pasture.

ASPARAGUS RESPONDS TO PROPER ATTENTION

Although nearly everyone relishes asparagus, few people grow it in their home gardens. Fifty to seventy-five plants will supply sufficient asparagus to meet the requirements of a family of five.

However, to be productive, an asparagus bed must receive the right kind of attention. In too many gardens, since asparagus is a perennial, it is left to shift for itself after the cutting season. This is a mistake because the plants require periodic feeding and cannot satisfactorily compete with weeds and sod even though vigorous and hardy.

A good crop of asparagus can be assured next year by making plans now to treat the bed properly. Not only is it advisable to keep the bed free of weeds during the cutting season, but also during summer and fall. It is during summer and fall that the plants store food supplies in the roots for the production of young stems the following spring.

In addition to keeping the bed cultivated to remove competition from weeds, it is a good plan to add a complete fertilizer. Use either 5-10-5 or 4-8-7, broadcast at the rate of 30 to 40 pounds per 1,000 square feet about the middle of June. Fifteen to 20 pounds is considered sufficient for 100 feet of row.

Many follow the plan of mulching their asparagus beds with straw after the fertilizer has been applied. Mulching eliminates weeds and keeps the ground cool and moist, providing ideal conditions for the growth of the plants. If properly handled, an asparagus bed will pay large dividends in good yields.

JUNE IS A BUSY MONTH IN THE FLOWER GARDEN

If you planted shrubs, evergreens, perennials or roses this spring, keep them well watered so that the roots do not have an opportunity to dry out.

This is the season for sowing annuals to provide blossoms for late summer. Annual larkspurs, lupines, Shirley poppies and bachelor buttons may be sown where they are to bloom. Annual gypsophila, callendula, mignone, alyssum and candytuft may also be sown now. After your pyrethrum plants finish blossoming, they may be lifted and divided. It is best to wait for a cool, cloudy day. By fall, strong plants will have developed from the divisions.

Gladioli may be planted every two weeks to provide a succession of blooms.

Place house plants outdoors under the shade of a tree or in some sheltered spot for the summer. Strong sunlight is particularly objectionable for palms and ferns. Most plants will do best if the pots are placed to the rim in the ground.

It is a good plan when cutting peony blooms to leave some of the foliage on the base of the stalk from which the bloom was cut. Another plan is to remove only a few blooms from each plant.

Judicious pruning of such spring blooming shrubs as spiraea, mock oranges, lilacs, viburnums and forsythia is advisable since it will give them ample time to make new wood for the production of an abundant supply of blooms next year.

SERVE FRESH RHUBARB FOR APPETIZING DISHES

Fresh rhubarb comes to the aid of the homemakers who hesitate to serve her family oranges, grapefruit, or bananas three times a day. These are the principal fresh fruits on the market at this season.

Rhubarb says Miss Markle, home economics extension representative of Lawrence county, is classed as a vegetable since it is the stem of a plant, but because of its acidity and flavor it is used as a fruit.

She urges homemakers to use rhubarb freely. It is a good source of calcium and iron and the acid and cellulose are stimulating to the digestive system.

To prepare rhubarb for cooking, wash thoroughly and cut in pieces about an inch long. Leave on the skin since the red gives a more attractive cooked product.

In selecting rhubarb, choose stalks that are firm and crisp. It is better if cooked as soon as possible to prevent wilting. For variety in serving rhubarb, Miss Markle suggests the following:

Rhubarb Pudding
Two cups rhubarb sauce.
Two cups coarse bread crumbs.
One-third cup melted butter.
Mix the butter with the crumbs. Arrange the rhubarb and the crumbs in alternate layers, having a layer of crumbs on top. Sift cinnamon and nutmeg over the top and bake the pudding in a moderate oven until brown.

Rhubarb Puffs
One cup flour.
One teaspoon baking powder.
One-fourth teaspoon salt.
One-fourth cup sugar.
One-half cup milk.
One tablespoon melted butter.
One egg, beaten.
Rhubarb sauce.

Combine all the ingredients, except the rhubarb in the order given, and beat the mixture until it is smooth. Grease individual molds or cups and into each put three tablespoons of rhubarb sauce and then one tablespoon of the batter. Steam for 20 minutes and serve warm with cream and sugar.

Babson Discusses Opportunities For Graduates Of Year

By ROGER W. BABSON
(Copyright, 1939, Publishers Financial Bureau)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 9.—This month the supply of workers in the United States and Canada will be swelled by a huge wave of over 2,000,000 school and college graduates. Getting these young people employed is a serious task. However, I believe that if parents analyze their children and attack this problem intelligently it can be solved. Certainly, conditions are much better today than a year ago.

Six Fields.

Opportunities for today's graduates may be divided into six groups: (1) Agriculture, (2) Professional, (3) Building, (4) Manufacturing, (5) Selling, (6) Finance. I have never seen a young person who was not fitted for one of these groups. It is much more important to ascertain whether a boy is best adapted to selling or to teaching, than it is to ascertain whether the chemical industry or transportation offers the best opportunities. For which of these six divisions is a child, by inheritance, training and environment, best fitted? That is the problem which parents and teachers must answer.

Many readers have written me asking my advice as to the best fields for their newly-graduated children to enter at this time. In reply, I say it is easy to select an industry, such as air-conditioning, as offering the best opportunity at the moment. On the other hand, if this is generally recognized, air-conditioning will become overcrowded. Contrarywise, if the general feeling is that the investment business no longer has good opportunities, this very thing may cause it to offer excellent opportunities for the few who enter it. Therefore, I will name 12 industries all of which look good to me. I will endeavor, moreover, to list these in the order of their importance.

(1) Air-Conditioning—I especially have in mind air-conditioning new small houses and selling individual air-conditioning units. Hotels, offices, restaurants and stores in the lutions modified, the investment business will again be prosperous.

(9) Gasoline and Tires—Whether one has an old car or a new car, he must buy gasoline and tires. These are both basic and repeat industries. They are always worthy of consideration.

(10) Automobiles—Although the automobile has come to stay, the market may temporarily be over-saturated. It is a sound and fundamental industry, but it may not now offer the opportunities which it did 20 years ago.

(11) Automobile Accessories—The above criticism does not apply to auto accessories—that is, manufacturers specializing in parts and gadgets for automobiles. These have a broad base to work upon. Their manufacture does not require great capital.

(12) Real Estate and Building—I am very bullish on old houses; but some day there will be a building boom of small modern houses. The current real estate may well be the beginning of the boom. Pre-fabricated houses interest me greatly. I also believe there will be a great demand for small farms, especially in the vicinity of college towns.

Instead of waiting until war comes and then have your children used for cannon fodder, it is not much better for them to make a little sacrifice now and train for home defense work? I have in mind that they become experts on gas masks, anti-aircraft guns, nursing and other protective lines. Finally, let me say that it is far more important for children to develop character, health, desire for babies and for land, than to select any definite industry!

Hughes Claims Large Saving
Says $11,500,000 Cut From Expenses Of Highway Department In Five Months

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, June 9—Savings of approximately $11,500,000 were claimed today by Highway Secretary I. Lamont Hughes in the department of highways since the advent of the James administration five months ago.

Hughes, in a letter to Governor Arthur H. James, said that his department's economy program cut $11,392,895 from expenditures of the Earle administration "on a normal operation basis."

He indicated that even further savings might have been accomplished, but declared "we did not have much control over January and February owing to the disorder and chaos reflecting from operations of the last administration."

Maintenance of the highways department, Hughes added, was not neglected during the period. Neither were "proper departmental activities curtailed," he said.

Governor James congratulated Hughes on his department's "fine record."

Rev. McLean Speaks At Erie Celebration

Rev. W. V. McLean, pastor of the First Methodist church, delivered the principal address at the 50th anniversary service of Erie's Wayne Street Methodist church Thursday, the congregation he served for eight years before moving to Titusville and to New Castle.

Later Rev. and Mrs. McLean attended the wedding of Miss Virginia Tucker and Hunter LeSeure in one of Erie's largest churches.

Excavation Starts In Electric Street

Excavation in Electric street between Hamilton and Grimes streets got under way Thursday. The thoroughfare is to be paved as a city-WPA project.

The dirt is being hauled to Cascade Park and placed around the lake to raise the level of the water for boating.

The steam shovel in Electric street will be taken to Blaine street for excavation next week.

Two More On Boy Scout Camp Staff

Two additional youths were announced today as being on the staff of Camp John M. Phillips for the coming Boy Scout camping season. James Rucker, 131 Euclid avenue, will serve as junior councillor in the place of James Emerick, who is leaving town.

Ted Metzler of 415 West Cherry street has been selected as official bugler for the camp.

Funeral Service Held For Slain Girl
Friends And Neighbors Continue Plans To Raise Money For "Justice Fund"

(International News Service)
MAUCH CHUNG, Pa., June 9—As friends and neighbors continued plans to raise money for a "justice fund" to help prosecute her policeman-slayer, funeral services were held today for 14-year-old Joan Stevens in nearby Nesquehoning.

John Stevens, father of the girl who was riddled with bullets from the automatic of State Police Corporal Benjamin Franklin, tearfully refused financial aid in prosecuting the officer. The parent said he was too "grief-stricken" to consider offers to hire an attorney, and declared an autopsy was "unnecessary."

Carbon county officials had announced the autopsy was requested "to clear up prevailing rumors as to whether the girl had been criminally assaulted." Joan was slain Monday as she sat in a police car with Corporal Franklin and Private

Edward Swatji to whom she assertedly promised information about a bank robbery plan.

Franklin testified the girl drew a gun, later found to be a toy pistol, and that he shot her in "self defense." The officer is free under $5,000 bail.

Local Youth Sees British Rulers In Windsor, Ontario

"Kings take an awful beating!" At least that's the way a University of Michigan law student from New Castle, Robert E. Jamison, feels about it, after seeing King George VI and his "attractive queen" at close range in Windsor, Ont., Wednesday night.

Jamison and two Michigan classmates, Charles Lovett, Detroit, and Robert Neeland, who hails from North Dakota, traveled the 40 miles from Ann Arbor to Windsor and across the river to Detroit when they heard the monarch's train would stop there.

The local youth, with one year of law school at Michigan completed, returned yesterday for the summer. He is the son of Attorney and Mrs. Roy M. Jamison, 134 East Sheridan avenue.

rifle bullet which damaged a large plate glass window and glanced off and broke a small window in the Marlin Furniture Store, South Jefferson street.

Someone robbed the home of Mrs. Minnie Gibson, 610 East Washington street, of $11 while she sat on a front porch late yesterday afternoon or early Thursday evening, she told police. The thieves cut a hole in a rear screen door, unlocked the catch and took a pocketbook which contained the money. A penknife and street car checks were also stolen from Mrs. Myrtle Withrow who resides at 610 1/2 East Washington street.

Police received a complaint of a loud radio in Finch street at noon Thursday. They also receive reports nightly of radios being played in homes late at night to the annoyance of neighbors. In such cases police advise players to tone down the radios so as to not annoy neighbors.

INSPECT ROUTE ROYAL COUPLE TO RIDE OVER SATURDAY

(International News Service) NEW YORK, June 9 — Police and detectives today made a last-minute inspection of the route over which King George and Queen Elizabeth will travel Saturday from the Battery to the New York World's Fair, casting an extra-critical eye on roofs, bridges and other vantage points for possible evil-doers.

A squad of 30 detectives made a minute search of 15 places mentioned in an anonymous letter as depositories for bombs but no explosives were found in the suspected establishments, mostly dance halls, restaurants and drinking places frequented by radicals. Nevertheless, they were kept under surveillance.

Sam Yee Is Held On Opium Charge

Federal Authorities To Secure Custody Of Local Man Arrested Thursday

Two tin cans filled with opium, irons with which to roll the opium into pills and several pipes were seized last night, when Sam Yee, 127 East North street, was arrested by Police Lieutenant George E. Kennedy and Cruised Car operator D. J. Thomas. Lee was charged with violation of the Harrison Narcotic Act, and held for federal authorities.

According to reports, Yee, an elderly and well known Chinese, was in Pittsburgh yesterday where he reportedly secured the opium which was in small tin boxes. It has the appearance of a black salve and emits a sickly-sweet odor.

When Yee arrived at the P. & L. E. railroad station, Liberty street, about 10 p. m. Thursday, Kennedy and Thomas were awaiting him. They found, they reported, the two cans filled with opium. He was taken to his place of business which was searched.

In the sleeping-room of Yee, the police claim they found a cube of opium, the size of a pea, in a coat pocket. The coat was in a clothes-dress. They also report having found the irons used to roll the pills and several pipes.

The pipes were of the fancy sort with stems approximately 18 inches long. At the end was attached a holder like those used for cigars and "zigags." The bowl of the pipes emitted an odor akin to that of tobacco.

Chinese friends said that Yee has been ill and "smoked" because it helped him. He said that the opium cost about $5.00 per box. Each box was 1-2 inch thick and in circumference, the size of a quarter.

Yee retained Attorney Edwin K. Logan to represent him.

BAD NERVES, DIZZINESS, KEPT LOCAL GIRL IN UPSET STATE

Young New Castle resident now says, "I can hardly express how wonderful I feel since taking Vendol." Advises everyone to try it.

MISS PAULINE CARSON

"It seems almost unbelievable that any medicine could do all that Vendol has done for me, but here I am to prove the big change that has taken place," said Miss Pauline Carson of 4 S. View Ave., New Castle, to the Vendol Man in Eckerd's Cut Rate a few days ago.

"My bowels had been sluggish for years, forcing me to be always taking something for constipation, which condition was causing a lot of different troubles. The lightest meal was almost certain to distress me with indigestion, sourness, gas, acid risings, and heartburn; my nerves were on edge that made sleep almost impossible at night; and what was even worse, I awakened nearly every morning with a heavy, dull headache, dizzy, a vile taste in my mouth, and a furry coating on my tongue. I felt tired and stretched, just hated to start the day's work."

"So many people praised Vendol for the relief it gives from these troubles that I bought some, and I soon found it was giving me the very same relief."

All druggists sell Vendol, so it is not difficult to get, and the Vendol Man in person invites everyone to call at Eckerd's Cut Rate Drug, 118 E. Washington St., and let him explain all about this great Root, Herb and Alkaline medicine. There is no charge, so don't delay.

Snead Leading National Open

Slingshot Sammy Registers Sparkling 68 To Lead Field First Day

AMATEUR GOLFER RECORDS FINE 69

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Editor

PHILADELPHIA, June 9.—The pre-tournament battle cry was slightly altered or broadened, today, as the National Golf Open went into the second round, and it no longer was simply Ralph Guldahl against the field but rather Guldahl against the field and Sam Snead as the nation's pre-eminent golfers progressed toward wholesale slaying of their ranks by nightfall. The less fortunate of the 165 starters will be summarily dismissed; the 60 low scorers and ties on the basis of yesterday's and today's aggregates will move into tomorrow's two 18's that will settle everything.

Guldahl is hot. Seemingly what they are about to settle is whether Guldahl, the strapping Texas Norwegian, will wear the crown for the third straight time or whether Snead, the West Virginia hillbilly, finally will win it for the first time. The former fired his opening round challenge yesterday in the competition against par that was notable for high scoring by shooting a 71, two over regulation for the tough Philadelphia Country club course. Snead countered with a 68, only sub-par round of the day, and with that moved into virtual co-favoritism with the titleholder. In more or less official odds announced today Guldahl was held at 4 to 1 and Snead at 5 to 1.

Between their 68 and 70 stood Lawson Little, who once made golfing history by winning two U. S. and two British amateur titles in successive years; Bud Ward, the Spokane Walke; copper and Mat Kaval, a native Pennsylvanian, with par 69's, and Tommy Armour and Olin Duara, a pair of former open champions. Craig Wood, Lloyd Mangrum, Denny Shute and Jug McSpaden all deadlocked at 70.

Girl's League Is Rained Out

The Liberty Street girls will play the House of Savoy girls at Rotary field. The Mooney girls will meet the Arena girls at Dean Park field. West Pittsburgh girls will meet the Booker T. Washington' at Viaduct field. The Checker girls will be idle tonight in the league, having drawn a bye.

Russell Resigns As Manager Of Slovaks

The following letter of resignation was submitted to the New Castle News by Stephen "Snag" Russell today:

All participating members of the Slovak Club:

I, Steve Russell, resign as manager of the Slovak Ball Club for the year of 1939. As circumstances stand, there are too many members of the Club interfering with my work, and seem to dictate as to what should be done.

If my management is not satisfactory to the organization as it seems to be to some of the members, I feel that I should resign at the present time.

Signed:
STEVE RUSSELL.

Weight Fails To Jar Kurtz

Reported To Have Given Light-heavyweight Stiff Bout Recently

BILLY REALE TO FIGHT IRISH LAD

Muddy Kurtz, the one-man-circus of McKeesport, believes in the Bob Fitzsimmons pugilistic tenet, "The bigger they are the 'arder they fall," something he endeavored to demonstrate recently in Monaca.

The 147-pound flailer agreed to fight Vic Ferrand, light-heavyweight, when Vic's opponent failed to appear. The fact that Vic vanquished Joe Gaynor, Bethany college, here did not perturb Muddy.

According to reports he showed a lot of temerity and when the bout was over the light-heavyweight did not have much to crow about. He got a decision by a whisker, the reports say.

Opposes Jimmie West
Monday night Kurtz will oppose Jimmie West of Pittsburgh in a return three-round whirl. Some weeks ago in Rochester they fought a thrilling go. Muddy scored one knockdown and by virtue of that got the nod.

Jimmie and Kurtz stole the show according to Tom McMahon, who refereed. There was no stalling, plenty of punches and the fight was decided one of the best to have been staged in Rochester, recently.

The main role Monday in the air-cooled arena will be staged between Frankie Genaro, G. G. champion of Youngstown, and victor in all his bouts here, and Steve Kowalik, a rugged socker of McKeesport. Steve captured a hair-line decision from Ted Delarado, East Liverpool. G. G. champion here several weeks ago. Kowalik will need to be in fine form else he may fall prey to a knockout.

The Frankie Moran of New Castle vs. Johnny Green of Pittsburgh featherweight bout should have a lot of class plus punch. Both are capable of scoring a knockout. Frankie is training with Johnny Dean, local pro.

Having upheld the prestige of the Irish, Regis O'Brien will expect his fellow Irishman, Johnny Green, of Pittsburgh, to come through with a victory over Billy Reale, the plough-boy of Princeton.

Baby-Sized Boxers
Billy is as strong as a Hercules. His hands are tough from grasping plough handles and his legs are like wire from traveling through furrows day in and day out. They will weigh 160 pounds.

Wesley Rodgers, Grove City lad, who is popular here, will meet Joe Cimaca of Pittsburgh at 160. Cimaca will be boxing here the first time. Jack Sawyer, Niles, a good 160-pounder, will meet Frank Pettit of Pittsburgh.

Baby Face Retardo, 112, of Ellwood City, will lead a crowd of fans here. He has been winning every time he enters the ring. His opponent will be one Walter Yanish, also 112 of Pittsburgh.

The opening bout will find Sunny Horne of Niles battling Al Packard of Youngstown, at 150.

Regardless how hot it may be on Monday night the arena will be comfortably cool because it has one of the best air-cooling systems in this section. Rain or clear, the fight will go on at 8:30 p. m., E. S. T.

WILL PLAY TONIGHT
The Checker girls softball team will play the N. Y. A. girls tonight at Glasser field. The game was set for last night, but was rained out. The game will start at 6 o'clock.

NO GAME RAIN
The K. Pulaski-Slovak City league game scheduled for last night at the Clifton Flats field had to be postponed due to the downpour of rain. No definite date has been set for the playing of the game.

Says W. P. A. Work Will Continue

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, June 9.—Regardless of a threat by A. F. of L. building trades craftsmen on W. P. A. projects to go out on strike this afternoon in protest of an "open shop," W. P. A. officials here today maintained that work on projects in Allegheny county would be continued nevertheless.

"If anyone goes off the job, he will be replaced," a spokesman for the administration declared. "We can't recognize such a strike and we have no alternative in the matter."

BELIEVE AUTHOR VICTIM OF STORM

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, June 9.—Richard Halliburton, the author, and Capt. John Wenloch Welch, a master mariner, who disappeared while sailing aboard a Chinese junk from Hong Kong for San Francisco, probably perished in a terrific typhoon which struck the night of March 23 and 24 some 1200 miles west of Midway island, according to the theory of Albert R. Wetjen, author of sea stories. Wetjen's theory was expressed in a letter published today in the United States naval institute proceedings journal.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Sammy Snead, of West Virginia, turned loose a hot game yesterday and delivered a sub-par 68 in the first round on the Philadelphia, Pa. Country club course, to lead in the race for the National Open golf championship. He went out in 35 and came home in 33. His play contained slice-gun driving, delicate pitching and putting. He climaxed his play on the long twelfth hole when, after bunkering his spoon second, he holed his wedge explosion. This shot, which turned a probably five into a birdie three, was the coup that enabled him to head the parade of 164 rivals.

Lawson Little and Marvin Guidahl, winner of the 1937 and 1938 classics, and gunning for a third successive title, scored a 71. He played good golf, but his putter betrayed him. Twice he missed putts of four feet or under. He remarked that today shots would not be wasted.

Pete Scalzo, New York, and Emil Joseph, Pittsburgh, featherweights, will box 10 rounds Monday night in Pittsburgh. Eddie Collins and Hans Wagner have been named captains of the baseball centennial game at Cooperstown. Lou Nova, through Manager Ray Carlen, has demanded a match with the winner of the Louis-Galento fight.

Salem and Old Furnace will meet in polo Sunday on the Old Furnace field, Ellwood City-Zellenople highway. Eddie Simms and Patsy Peroni, heavyweights, will box tonight in Cleveland.

City Softball Games Tonight
There will be four games tonight in the City Softball League (weather permitting). The games will start at 5:45 o'clock. The league leaders Nobilis will tangle at Dean Park field with the fast Sons of Italy team.

The Rads will play the Foleys at Lehigh field. The Gus' Big Ten will meet the Johnson Bronze at the Rotary field. The Lingerlights will battle the K. Pulaski team at Sunny avenue field.

The East New Castle baseball team is scheduled to play the fast Edenburg All-Stars at the Edenburg field at 2 o'clock on Saturday afternoon.

Any team that would like to meet the East New Castle team can arrange games by calling at Dave Baughman's, 819 West Washington street.

East New Castle To Play Saturday

The East New Castle baseball team is scheduled to play the fast Edenburg All-Stars at the Edenburg field at 2 o'clock on Saturday afternoon.

The following are asked to report at the meeting tonight: Guy Gall, DelPrince, Severa, Horchler, Calguiri, Marling, Scott Morrison, Delone, McGary, Annerella, Dom Via and D. Summerson.

Yanks Defeat White Sox 7-2

Young Atley Donald Pitches His Sixth Straight Victory Over White Hose

BOSTON BEES STING PIRATES

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 9.—If the sometimes overly officious baseball officials would consult the wishes of Gus Q. Fan—the guy who lays out his dough for a bleacher seat—they would crawl into a nice quiet corner somewhere and stay there.

Gus is getting all fed up with this constant tinkering with the game he supports. First it was the ball. It was too dead. Then too lively. Then they deadened it again. Next they wanted even seams. Then raised stitches. And now the officials are all hot and bothered about the gloves the players are using.

Yanks Win Again
Gus is getting all fed up with this constant tinkering with the game he supports. First it was the ball. It was too dead. Then too lively. Then they deadened it again. Next they wanted even seams. Then raised stitches. And now the officials are all hot and bothered about the gloves the players are using.

And speaking of pitching, Gus is inclined to think the Yanks must have some pretty fair throwers as well as hitters if the records mean anything. Five of the Yankee pitchers have yet to taste defeat. Hays has won four straight. Pearson five, Sundra three, Murphy one, and young Atley Donald corraled his sixth straight yesterday when he let the White Sox down with seven hits, the Yanks winning, 7-2.

Paul Trout, Detroit's rookie right-hander, gave only six hits to trim the Athletics, 8-4. This was the first time the Tigers have beaten the A's this season, believe it or not.

Indians Top Senators
Five atrocious errors helped the Indians top the Senators, 7-5, and the Red Sox came through against the Browns, 8-7.

Over in the National League, Lou Pette, great right-hander of the Bees, hurled another three-hitter to blank the Pirates, 2-0.

Honors by Bonura and Danning off Lee gave the Giants a 3-3 margin over the Cubs.

The Cardinals and Dodgers were idle but in a night game at Philadelphia, the Phillies lost to the Cincinnati Reds, 3 to 2.

Only One Utility Game Is Played

There was only one game played last night in the Utility-Mercantile softball league, the Penn Power Merchandisers losing to the All-State team 17 to 12 at Hillcrest Field. The other games were washed out.

Homan was the losing pitcher and Santee the winning hurler. Santee also was the batting star for the All-States with a triple and double. The score by innings:

Penn Powers . . . 011 330 4—12 17 0
All-States . . . 180 305 x—17 19 0
Batteries: Penn Powers: Roman and Parshall
All-States—Santee and Cox.

RYANTOWN TO PLAY
The Ryantown team of the City Baseball League will play the South Side Tigers tonight at the Ryantown field at 5:45 o'clock (weather permitting) it was announced today by Business Manager James Heaney.

Rambling Around World Of Sports

Pickups in the baseball world—Keep an eye on Ken Heintzmann, Pittsburgh catcher. The rookie southpaw has lots of stuff on the apple. Hazen "Kiki" Cuyler, former Pittsburgh star, is managing the Chattanooga Lookouts. . . . Monty Stratton, Chisox hurler who lost a leg in a hunting mishap, made good use of the money he received from that benefit. Stratton purchased an annuity which will pay him $22,000 when he reaches the 42nd milestone. . . . Frankie McCormick, Cincinnati ace, is one of the toughest batsmen in the National circuit. Last year, McCormick struck out but 17 times. . . . George Case, Washington's young rookie, is reviving Ty Cobb's art of base stealing. Up to Thursday, Case had pilfered 22 bags. . . . When the Yanks mark up a victory, credit is usually given to the hitting power of the club. This year's machine seldom chalks up an error, a fact which is being overlooked. The champs went along for nine straight games before committing a faux pas. . . .

Local sport jottings—According to a rumor which has reached this desk, Alex Shelloff, former New Castle high and Notre Dame grid star, will play professional ball with the Chicago Bears, this fall. . . . Frank Vigniano, a student at Temple University, a popular local athlete has returned to spend the summer.

At The Airport

Findley C. Wilson is mapping out plans for the erection of a large airplane hangar. Steel center supports, used in the old hangar, will be built into the new structure.

Persons passing the port at night cannot help but stop and see what is going on. A large portion of the field is lighted at night to enable the fliers to carry on their night activities.

The Travel-Air bi-plane that was formerly owned by William H. Lee, visited the New Castle airport recently. The ship has been completely rebuilt and was hardly recognized by anyone at the port. Walter Zundel of Patterson Heights now owns this ship.

Findley Wilson is working on a set of large letters on the ground to read "New Castle Airport." These letters will be 18 inches wide when completed and will be visible for a great distance in the air.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEALL

With school letting out today for the summer vacation... a large crowd is expected at the pool at Cascade Park... these warm days... there is nothing like a good swim... and if swimming is the thing... why not swim where it's safe... don't trust the creek too far... it has dangerous teeth... play safe.

We have here in New Castle an airport that could be really made into something if enough of you folks would become interested... an airport that we visited the other day was built by the same means as ours on the Youngstown road... but today they not only have nice smooth runways but hangars, landing lights and all the trimmings that go with an airport. Why don't we... that is one question we will not attempt to answer... checking with residents of the town that this fully equipped airport was a part of and we found them saying "We just went after the officials and there are the results".

Reading over a report the other day this little item caught my eye and so in passing it along to you... we hope that you know what we mean. This question has been in hundreds of minds no doubt. According to the report... the skin of blondes and brunettes contain substantial quantities of red, yellow, violet, blue and green. Rather a colorful array, eh what. But going on... there is less yellow and more green or blue-green, in blondes than brunettes. Therefore we come to the conclusion that a blonde can literally turn green with envy because when the blood leaves her face, the green shows through. You fellows who know blondes... see if that is right.

Every time we mention that we would like to have some odd and interesting recipes for good food... quite a number say under their breath... has he gone crazy. Not entirely... but we believe that the preparation of good food can become very interesting... there are several good books on the market explaining this point... visit your favorite book store. So we ask... do any of you have any, rather odd and exciting recipes that we might explore and pass along to others so interested?

NEW YORK, June 9.—The stock market strengthened today, as the list again approached the upper test level in the industrial price average.

Leaders chalked up gains of one to as much as two points in some instances, and trading was at a somewhat accelerated pace.

Prices were mixed at the start, but started to climb almost immediately. The rally gained momentum mid-way through the forenoon and leaders moved to new peaks for the day in the second hour.

Volume totaled 200,000 shares in the first 60 minutes of trading.

Case featured with a jump of 2 1/2 points, while International Harvester ran up two.

Gains of a point or more were chalked up by a number of pivotal issues. Included were Chrysler, DuPont, Union Carbide, Westinghouse Electric, Johns-Manville, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, U. S. Rubber, American Telephone, Eastman Kodak, Phillips-Dodge and Owens-Illinois Glass.

Improvement in the rails, aviation and steels was limited to fractional proportions.

Zoning Action Is Taken By Council

ELLWOOD CITY, June 9.—A zoning commission composed of five members: Dr. H. B. Anderson, Miss Louise Barton, Raymond D'Alco, H. W. Smith and W. R. Thompson, was elected at the June meeting of the Ellwood City council and the rules and regulations suspended for the passage of the zoning commission ordinance on first and final reading.

While no definite action was taken, the adoption of the parking meter system is apparently preparing to make its debut in this city.

A parking meter company representative attended the meeting and explained the operation of the machines, which would be the penny-nick type and would cost $56.50 to purchase and to be paid for over a period of months through 75 per cent of the monthly collections.

Chamber of Commerce Secretary R. J. Schill, was asked to take a committee of merchants, council members and other interested residents to Butler and other nearby towns where this particular type of meter has been installed. No opposition was voiced.

It was agreed to repair the approach to the Ewing Park bridge, which was recently purchased by the city. Complete repairs to the bridge, which had been formally promised by the county commissioners, are undetermined at the present time. Authority for the expenditure of money for such repairs by the county must be given by the grand jury. The council thought this matter was to come before the grand jury in session this week, but because a required ten days had not elapsed between the time the board of viewers appraised the bridge and the time the grand jury convened, the matter will not be taken before the grand jury until the September term, during the second week of that month.

Robert B. Curry, fifth ward councilman, who voted against the purchase of the bridge and who repeatedly questioned the weight of the commissioners' agreement, demanded of Boro Solicitor Humphrey, "Is it true or is it not, that the commissioners have washed their hands of the bridge and made a political football of it?" Mr. Humphrey nodded affirmatively and Mr. Curry added to the other members of the board, "Well, it's your baby now, you wanted it awful bad, now you've got it, you'll have to dress it," whereupon President Howell declared the discussion closed.

Since the purchase of the bridge it has been open to public use and a check shows that hundreds of cars cross the bridge daily. The matter of damages to the bridge was brought up and an accident was brought up and the boro solicitor said he believed the bridge had been properly posted to eliminate any trouble of this kind until time when favorable action might be taken by the grand jury, and if not, the bridge would have to be closed in inclement weather.

Ray Aylesworth, of the Pittsburgh company, attended the meeting and asked the council to take over a plot of land at the head of Ninth street to Wayne avenue to use as a park or playground in consideration of taxes owed by the company. The rules and regulations committee was asked to make a recommendation after determining the amount of taxes.

Suspending the rules, a resolution that the boro pay for oiling all or any streets in the city as such streets were approved by the council was passed on first and final reading with the money to be provided from the general fund. A resolution that unpaved streets in Ewing Park be oiled was unanimously passed. This work has already been done.

Some time ago the boro was ordered by the state health department to have a new sewage disposal plant erected and installed. Council had Alex. Main, who designed the present system, which was erected in 1924, at a cost of $63,000, examine the plant and make a recommendation. His report stated that through apparent neglect, the system was in a very bad condition. He recommended general repairs at a cost of approximately $1,500 and the erection of an additional bed at a cost of $3,500. The report was accepted and will be gone over with a representative of the State Health Department who will, in the near future, meet with council.
